In the first part of the second half the score was nearly a tie but at the last the High School ran away from Punahou by throwing five baskets in succession. Erna Wodehouse, a High School forward, played a star game but was closely followed by Eva Taylor, the other High School forward. The two played a wonderful game and were the High School's main standbys, although the rent of the team played a very good game. Mele Williams and Ruth Boper, Punahou forwards, and Ruth Bortleman, a guard, played the best game for Punahou but their efforts were nat enough to hold back McKiniey. The game was divided into halves of fifteen minutes each with filteen minutes intermission. The game by baskets was as follows:

Never "under-club" yourself. If you are denying to others. Remember you were glad of a helping hand. Never "under-club" yourself. If you were filted in the slightest chance that you will be short with a mashle, your game is to take an easy shot with an iron. A ball that is past the hole has had a chance of hitting the flag—this never happens to the shot that is the reverse of straight.

Never forget to rub your clubs thoroughly dry after playing in the rain. A drop of linseed oil rubbed into the shafts will help preserve their stiffness, while an occasional coat of varnish or a restain will make your wooden clubs look respectable for a long time. Make it a habit to ake your clubs to your professional twice a year to be thoroughly overlauded.
